Queries and responses on the request for research proposals

The political economy of social protection systems

Question 1:
Are there any regional preferences/limitations for this project? ‘Developing countries’ is a widely-used and -interpreted term and quite a few countries (for example, People’s Republic of China) can be referred to as ‘developing’ in terms of social provisions.

Answer:
There is not specific regional focus in this project although particular interest is given to low- and middle-income countries in Asia, Latin America, and Africa.